WASHINGTON PAYS LAST TRIBUTE TO DEAD CHIEF

State Funeral At Ten O'clock A Spectical Long To Be Remembered By Thousands Who Line Street

Casket Rested On Jet-Black Gun Caisson Drawn By Jet-Black Team of Horses—8,000 Soldiers March to the Dirge of Five Military Bands

DEEP SOLEMNITY MOVES ALL TO TEARS

Washington, Aug. 8. (United Press)—Warren Gamaliel Harding rests in the White House once more.

The dead body of the President, brought across the continent from San Francisco on the same special train on which he made his last tour of the United States, arrived at the Union Station at 10:22 p. m. yesterday.

The national capital stood with reverently bowed head as the body of the late chief was taken tenderly from the sombre train which brought it from the Pacific coast.

President Coolidge, Chief Justice Taft, and Senator Cummins, president pro tempore of the upper House, led the mourning throng which gathered at the railway station.

The body was borne from the train as thousands of heads were bowed and bowed, and placed on a gun caisson for transfer to the executive mansion.

A military escort of the second squadron of the third cavalry and one battery of the sixth field artillery from Fort Myer, Va., commanded by Major J. M. Wright, was formed in Union station plaza as an escort of honor.

In the background loomed the great dome of the capital beneath which all that is mortal of the departed President will lie in state today. In the foreground the Stars and Stripes drooped at half mast from the same tall pole which displayed the emblem gallantly at its peak on the day less than two months ago when President Harding started on his ill-fated pilgrimage.

Led by a mounted police detail, the solemn procession passed through the capital grounds, winding through the driveway and passed into historic Pennsylvania avenue, the route of many of the republic's most impressive processions.

From the peace monument at the foot of Capitol Hill to the White House, a sorrowing crowd stood on each side of the broad street, heads bared as the black-draped and flag-covered casket rumbled past on the artillery caisson to the slow measured pace of the dead march. It was down this same avenue that Warren G. Harding and Woodrow Wilson rode in the same automobile to the inauguration of the former two years and a half ago. At that time Mr. Harding was hale and hearty and Mr. Wilson could not take a step without assistance. Tomorrow the body of Mr. Harding will be carried on its last journey down the avenue from the White House to the capitol and among the mourners will be Mr. Wilson. Reaching the northwest gate of the White House, the military escorts wheeled and faced about, standing at rigid attention as the caisson trundled slowly into the grounds of the executive mansion.

Taking a shorter route, the courageous widow, who had watched over her beloved dead from the Pacific coast, accompanied by General and Mrs. Sawyer and Secretary George Christian, arrived at the White House shortly before the cortege, in time to receive the body.

Awaiting Mrs. Harding were Mrs. Coolidge and the ladies of the cabinet. They were there merely as women to offer sympathy and comfort to one of their number who had just lost her husband. Following the casket and the military escort from the White House were automobiles carrying the President, Chief Justice Taft, and Senator Cummins, with Speaker Gillett, the occupants of these three cars representing the three branches of the government.

Washington D. C. Aug. 8.—Washington today said farewell to Warren G. Harding.

With due solemnity and with a military and civil display befitting his office the body of the President was carried from the White House to the capitol and placed beneath the dome on the catafalque of Lincoln. Clearfield and McKinley. In the presence of the Nation's great men the rites were observed. Then the bronze doors swung open and an endless column of people began filing past the casket, walking four abreast, paying their last tribute.

To Marion This Evening
At 6:00 p. m. with a final crash of ket stood beneath the center of three canelabra; the head was facing the south with a soldier at attention. Two soldiers were on either side and a naval officer at the foot.

On the caasket was one wreath of flowers. Banked on the floor about the caasket were others, all of them sent by President Coolidge and high officials of the Nation.

There was not a single piece of furniture in the room. Lights filtered through the drawn shades, paling the glow of four electric candle sticks on the rich golden tapestry.

National Tribute

Millions of American people, standing by day and night beside the railroad tracks over which his funeral train came from San Francisco to the capitol have paid in person their final tribute to the man who was thus returning over the long journey. Today, the Nation as a whole in its majesty as a great Republic, paid him the utmost honor at its command. Today's state funeral was a fitting climax to the three thousand mile funeral service, which Mr. Harding's fellow men and women, whom he loved, accorded him.

Fears For Mrs. Harding.

Treading the way beside him today, as she did every step of his upward climb, was the white, worn figure of his wife, a woman whose matrons will keep her feet from falling under the weight of the sorrow that bowed her shoulders.

There was as much sympathy for her today as there was sorrow over the passing of the Nation's Chief. Never was a President's wife dearer to the people than Mrs. Harding and many of the tears that have fallen since he died have been for her.

Train Arrived 10:22 p. m. The funeral train arrived at 10:22 p. m. of a dark, starless night. Approaching the capitol it moved slowly past thousands of people from the city and those who had journeyed out from nearby towns in Maryland to be the first in Washington to greet their returning Chief.

Body in East Room.

All night the body lay in state in the East Room. Through the windows four sentries could be seen, immobile as graven images at the corners of the tier. Outside the iron pickets stood a fringe of mourners, staring at the dimly illuminated win-

Washington, D. C. Aug. 8.—Woodrow Wilson today again rode down Pennsylvania Avenue "The Street of Ambition." A man, who less than two years ago dropped the mantle of Chief Executive of the land in an almost dying condition today took his place as a sorrower in the funeral of his successor, President Warren G. Harding.

When Woodrow Wilson, with halting steps, athen cheeks and twisted figure left the White House two years ago, he was supported on the strong arm of President elect Harding, who then reined in the least of health. Today Mr. Wilson is better; a well man comparatively. Mr. Harding is dead.

The man about whom more stupendous events have evolved probably than any other in American history was accompanied in his automobile by his faithful wife, Mrs. Wilson, and his personal friend and physician, Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson.

Operators Of Central Field To Close Mines All Day On Friday

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 7, 1923. As an expression of esteem and respect for our late President, Warren Gamaliel Harding, and in accord with the request contained in the proclamation issued by President Coolidge designating Friday, August 10th, as a day of mourning, the officers of the Association respectfully request all mines in the district to remain closed on that day.

Very sincerely yours,
B. M. CLARK, President,
G. WEBB SHILLINGFORD, V.P.
CHARLES O'NEILL, Secretary,
W. A. JONES, Statistician.

dows, the only spot of light in the mansion. At dawn the crowds grew rapidly larger.

People began gathering along the line of the procession along Pennsylvania Avenue early today. A throng assembled at the New Willard Hotel from where President Coolidge and a military guard stared at the White House shortly before ten o'clock.

Drums Roll, Guns Boom.

Washington, Aug. 8.—The procession started for the capitol at 10:19 a. m. The caasket was carried from the White House, placed on the caisson and as troops came sharply to attention the solemn pageant moved slowly on its way. Minute guns began booming. Then the distant thrumming of the drums, beating the slow cadence of the dirge was faintly heard. Next the awakening notes of the dead march.

The leaders of the procession wheeled around the corner at the Treasury Building. First came General Pershing as commander in chief, followed by an army attendant and military guard of 8,000 troops. They marched with slow measured tread. Afterward came the civic procession, and in the midst of it the object upon which all eyes centered, the thing to which the heart of the nation went out, the flag-shrouded caasket upon a jet black gun caisson, drawn by jet black horses, with generals, admirals, cabinet members, senators and representatives passed slowly by, their heads bowed.

Over this same route President Harding walked behind the body of the unknown soldier drawn on the caisson nearly two years ago at the start of what many regarded as the supreme event of his administration—the World Arm Conference.

Spectators Weep.

Rank after rank of soldiers, sailors and marines swept past; five bands kept up a steady rhythm of the lament and in the occasional pause there was the music of the rumbling wheels, the tread of thousands of feet, the rattle of sabres, the clatter of hoofs and the sudden boom of the minute guns.

It was a mighty and awe-inspiring spectacle as the military might and statesmanship of America passed in review, filling the avenue from end to end with a river of humanity, the center of which was the rumbling caisson and its honored burden. The emotional strain was so great that many wept.

All officials wore black arm bands and crepe on their sabres.

Washington, Aug. 8.—Ambassadors and military leaders were massed on every hand as the remains of President Harding were carried to the rotunda at the capitol and placed on the catafalque at 11:21.

The invocation with which the funeral services opened was delivered by Dr. A. Freeman Anderson, assistant pastor of the Calvary Baptist church.

"Lead Kindly Light."

"Lead indly Light," the hymn that Mr. Harding loved in life, was sung by the same church male quartet. Scripture selections were read in the following order:

The Twenty-third Psalm.

The Book of Micah, Chapter 6, 8th verse:

"He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God." (This is the late Presi-

Friday, America's day of mourning for Warren G. Harding, bids fair to be marked by a complete cessation of activities the country over, as the United States comes to a halt to honor the dead President.

Commerce and recreation both will pause, at least momentarily, some time during the day. In several states—New York, Illinois, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Nebraska and New Jersey—a legal holiday has been declared, thus enabling banks to close their doors. Government offices, federal, state and municipal, will probably all be closed.

Many stores and factories have announced that they will not open their doors or that they will pause for a few minutes as the President's body is lowered into the grave.

In Clearfield the usual Thursday afternoon holiday will be observed and, in addition, practically every store, office and manufacturing plant will be closed during the entire afternoon on Friday. While nobody seems to be in a position to speak authoritatively on the hours of closing on Friday, the general swing is toward the noon closing. The banks will close at noon Friday. Many of the manufacturing plants will close all day.

dent's favorite verse, which he kissed when inaugurated.)

Revelations, Chapter 22: 1-5 verses: "And he showed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God and of the Lamb.

"In the midst of the street of it, and on either side of the river was there the tree of life, which bare twelve manner of fruits, and yielded her fruit every month: and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations.

"And there shall be no more curse; but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve him;

"And they shall see his face; and his name shall be in their foreheads. "And there shall be no light there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light; and they shall reign forever and ever."

Quotations from the scriptures selected by Mrs. Harding; Dr. Montgomery prayed and "Nearer My God To Thee" was sung by the male quartet. The services closed with a benediction by Dr. Anderson. The quotation was from the Book of Numbers, chapter 6: 24-26 verses.

"The Lord bless thee and keep thee: "The Lord make his face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee:

"The Lord lift up his countenance upon thee and give thee peace."

Shortly afterward the people began trooping past to view the caasket, guarded by four sentries motionless as graven images. At 6:00 p. m. while a salute of twenty-one guns is fired, the body will be taken from the rotunda and borne to the funeral train for the last journey home.

Many Heat Prostrations.

Washington, Aug. 8.—More than 250 persons suffered heat prostration during President Harding's funeral procession today. An unrelenting sun beat down on the bare heads of the crowd and many collapsed. Among those who suffered were 75 marines, who fell out of rank after standing for a long time in their heavy uniforms before the White House.

JOHNSONBURG AND LINDSEY FIREMEN TO CAMP WEEK HERE

The executives of the local firemen in charge of the coming convention of the Central District Volunteer Firemen's Association have everything working for one of the greatest conventions in the history of the association in this city on Wednesday and Thursday next.

A great many companies have sent in their advices to the effect that they will be here to a man and that many of them will bring their apparatus with them.

The Lindsey Company of Punxsutawney are pulling a very novel stunt. Joining with the Johnsonburg company, they are coming on Monday with a full camping equipment, chef, eats 'n' everything and will camp in the Clearfield Park. The Park Association have given them the key to the grounds and they expect this to be the annual outing of the company.

J. R. Furman of the J. R. Furman Company, of Jamestown, N. Y., the firm that has charge of the decorations of the city for the convention, is on the ground and will start work within a day or two. Mr. Furman comes to this city highly recommended and is endorsed by the local firemen as a decorator. He will also decorate other buildings in the city.

Everything points to one of the greatest conventions in the history of the association and there will undoubtedly be a great crowd here on the big day, Thursday.

PLAYGROUND HORSESHOES

Yesterday's games leave Witmer still in the lead and bring up Reedsville one peg, the standing being Witmer, are the only team that have pitched together steadily the entire season and their place in the list proves something for the scheme. They beat Undercoffer and Delaney of East End three games running with 21 points each to the latter's 13 and 8, ringers being equal. Williams and Goss of West Side lost to Reedsville, Hess and Bloom, 3-0, the latter's scores being 17, 15 and 11. There are twelve games on the schedule before the finals on the 30th, so there is time for a big change in the ratings if all teams keep at work.

This week's part at the East End play ground will begin at 5:30 with the first tournament game of the girls' volleyball league. West Side playing the home team. MILK IDEAL DIET FOR HOT WEATHER

Nothing takes the place of milk for a hot weather diet. In the first place, served cold, it makes an ideal cooling drink for any hour of the day. Next, it has so much nutriment in it that it takes the place of heavier foods that would heat the blood and bring up the body temperature to a point where the heat is felt more.

Then, it is easily digested, which is the right thing for your stomach.

ODDS AND ENDS
AND THINGS

Wages and salaries in manufacturing industries doubled, almost exactly, between 1914 and 1921. This is shown by the last census.

Total wages and salaries paid by all American manufacturing establishments compared as follows:

1914	$ 4,342,167,000
1921	10,763,442,000
1919	13,342,635,000

These figures show that the average person employed in manufacturing was paid about $106 in 1921 and $113 in 1919 for each $55 he received in 1914.

The average age of our presidents at the time they assumed office is 49 years and 10 months. President Coolidge's age when he took the oath of office was 51 years and 20 days. The following list shows the age of each president at the time he became the nation's chief:

President	Age
Washington	57
John Adams	51
Jefferson	57
Madison	57
Monroe	57
J. Q. Adams	58
Jackson	61
Van Buren	54
W. H. Harrison	68

Benjamin Harrison	55
Cleveland (second term)	55
McKinley	54
Roosevelt	42

There are now only two ex-presidents living, Taft and Wilson.

In the purchase of necessities, the dollar now has a buying power equal to 89 per cent of its pre-war value according to a nation-wide survey of retail prices just completed by the Department of Labor.

The department's investigation covered all principal cities of the United States. It dealt with expenditures of the average family for food, rent, clothing, fuel and furniture.

The average family now is forced to spend approximately 70 per cent more for these necessities than in 1913.

Food, which represents the largest expense of the family, is close to the pre-war level, being 44 per cent above the 1913 level in average price.

The nation's rent level stands at a point 68 per cent above 1913. Clothing has gone up 75 per cent, fuel 81 per cent and furniture 122 per cent.

Living costs are above the average of the United States as a whole in most cities east of the Alleghenies, the official investigation shows, while westward from the Mississippi the cost of living tends to fall below the average for the country. This is especially true of cities on the Pacific Coast. In the middle western cities food prices tend to fall below the average of national price while other necessities are higher.

Rents reflect an upward movement in the last twelve months despite the nationwide activity in the building of homes and apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Phillips spent the weekend with friends in Indiana. Miss Ruth Evans has returned home after spending some time with friends in Haverhill, Pa.

There is a story told of a man who once said that when he died he would prefer to have a children's playground above his grave rather than have the space occupied by a monument. He liked to think of the children playing there happily. Impracticable as this proposal would be, generally applied, it was yet a vivid way of indicating how devotedly he believed in the right of children to play.

SPIRIT OF AMERICA

Were there any reason to doubt that this is a democratic country, the scene in that Vermont farmhouse in the early hours of Friday morning would be sufficient to dispel the erroneous idea. By the light of an oil lamp a country notary read the will that he had just received, to make the son of the administering officer President of the United States. Thus a former Vermont farm boy is elected to the highest office within the gift of more than 100,000,000 people. The homely, the American setting of the scene, contribute to its impressiveness. The environment is one that might be repeated a million times in this land. Because it is so much like a president, or those who may reach the topmost places in all avenues of endeavor, may come, makes our country a democracy. It is not the form but the practice that makes the nation democratic. The simplicity of the scene was not more impressive than its portent. When the authority dropped from the limp hand of the dead chief, another as a member of duty stepped into his place without undue ceremony and the government lives. The transition was in pursuance of order and peace.

So many who have attained the presidency and the highest honors of success outside political honors have come from the back of the line in the shadow of the Green Mountains because sturdy folk are found to dwell amid such surroundings. Such may be proudly but their minds and ambitions may not be so much inspired by their environment. Because place and opportunity have been open to the offspring of such homes the nation has become great. In unpretentiousness, in simplicity, and in family life strength. Pageantry and glitter and ceremony may be needed to impress the populace in a land where one is elected by birth and not by popular selection or personal force, and the simple manner of inducing President Coolidge to take office is more impressive than any gorgeous spectacle of the old world could be, since it is so homely, and therefore, we like to think emblematic of the spirit of America.

Baseball, Band Concert, "On To Reading" Dance Thurs. P. M. and Evening

There will be plenty of all action here tomorrow afternoon and evening on the occasion of the regular Thursday afternoon half holiday. In the afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the Blair City team will cross bats with the local American Legion team. Blair City is a real city, not third class when it comes to baseball. They have a good team, plenty of sportsmanship and pep. See the game. It will be worth while.

In the evening at 7:45 the American Legion Band will play its regular weekly concert at the band stand at the park. This is a very popular thing now in Clearfield and Prof. Thayer who has returned from his vacation is all set to go. Following the band concert, the Legion will conduct the third of its "On to Reading" dances. Monty's orchestra will be the attraction and the price $1.25. Be in mind that the proceeds of these dances is for the purpose of sending our band to Reading in style. Be here.

Progress Editorial For Women

KEEP YOUR BACKBONE
By FLORINCE DAVIES

A doctor in New York City handed the county a little laugh the other day by accusing some one of having stolen his backbone. At least, if it wasn't his very own backbone, it was owned by him, if you get the difference, and it was lost. As the doctor made a business of teaching anatomy in a medical school, losing that backbone was quite a nuisance.

The sorry plight of the doctor in search of a backbone should be a lesson to us. If you must lose something, one feels like trying you to lose your purely unnecessary appendix or your troublesome adenoids or in fact making tonsils, even lose a wisdom tooth or two, but don't lose your backbone.

Spineless people are forever getting the worst of things and don't deserve so very much sympathy for their down trodden state.

The human spine was evidently evolved for the purpose of allowing human beings to stand up straight. But there are some people who are forever lying down and letting others walk all over them and then crying at their miserable luck. They are worse off than the New York doctor who says that his backbone was stolen. That, at least, wasn't his own doing, while these folks just seem to have mislaid their backbone or forgotten to make use of them.

I'd be willing to wager that there's a woman in your family or at least in your neighborhood who has always had the worst of things. If she was married, her husband probably spent all kinds of money on high living while she ripped and washed and turned her last year's suit, did her own work had to take care of his mother, never had a vacation and then died of some organic disease brought on by overwork and worry. If she wasn't married, perhaps it was her selfish brothers who never lifted a finger to support her parents in their old age, or her married sisters who put

One always doesn't have to put that into words. One just has to act it.

But a second two in the seventh and two in the eighth still made the score 2-0 in Dule's favour. McDermott opened the ninth for Connell with a drive and scored on his own single. Reilly went to bat and in the throw to the plate to catch Mahon, Shanahan advanced to the plate with five in his eye and a 'saw ball' already loomed over him but the umpire was tipped off by the Dule's manager as he took his chance in the game was called on a foul ball.

Matter of Mathematics.
A woman whose hobby was the psychology and the esoteric influence of colors, was deeply gratified one morning when her husband admitted that there might be something in her theory after all. "Dawson told me something today, which seemed to go to prove it," he said. "Dawson" questioned Mrs. Madison, amazed, for Dawson was the manager of her husband's stable. "Yes," he says the boys eat more than the grays. "Really! How does he account for it?" "Why, there are ten more boys than grays."

use, and 50 school children who re massed in front of the District iding to see the cortege pass. Am- lances were busy and additional strations were reported at fre- ent intervals. Many of those who collapsed were uacitated by first aid methods on e spot and were able to go home.

Marion Prep'd
Marion, Ohio, Aug. 8.—Three ousand guardsmen were gathered Marion today, adding a touch of ilitary color to preparations for the t home coming of Warren G. Hard y, but these soldiers did not come march in the procession or to fire ilitary salutes for their dead Com- ander in Chief. Their duties were simply to patrol e streets and direct the movements f hundreds of civilians who are ex- ected to come to Marion to pay heir last respects to the late Pres- ent. Guardsmen today were on duty at very street intersection. The direct- d traffic over those streets over which the procession will pass Thurs ay and Friday and where crews were hing night and day to repair the avement. They acted as orderlies to Colonel Frank P. Lahm, President Harding's representative and two of- cers of the Ohio National Guard. Warren Harding's friends and eighbors today realized that this frernal would be without pomp and the running of artillery and that the plans made to follow closely the e- sires of Mrs. Harding are for a fun- eal almost severe in its simplicity yet which will give every fellowman ample opportunity to participate. For a period, a total of twelve hours the body of Warren Harding will lie in state at the home of his father, Dr. George T. Harding, so every day may file past for a last look at his face.

Boils

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S. S. S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S. S. S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-blood. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaff, 557 15th street, Washington, D. C., writes: "I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S. S. S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S. S. S. that did it."

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical. S.S.S. The World's Best Blood Medicine our integrity. The Knights of Columbus have expended forty million dollars entrusted to them by the American public with the exception of some millions now being devoted to educational and hospitalization work. In Canada the Knights have spent many hundreds of thousands for welfare work. Every dollar has been devoted to its right purpose.

"Every remaining dollar is being devoted to that purpose, as tens of thousands of ex-service men of all denominations receiving education under K. of C. auspices can prove, and as any inquirer may see for himself by visiting any of the 400 hospitals throughout the country where the Knights of Columbus maintain hospitalization service free for war veterans regardless of creed.

"Any man who challenges the record must prove his case or abandon it. We have been over patient with our slanderers. We shall not be so in the future. The laws can be invoked to curb malicious lying."

Three Big Problems

The K. of C. chief declared that the three most important tasks now before the Knights were the satisfactory solution of the Catholic boy problem, connected with which there is a special committee report on the probable formation of a Junior K. of C. movement; next, the extension of the K. of C. national correspondence school into a great mail-system university for the 800,000 members of the order, and then the continuance of the hospital and educational work for disabled men.

"Not until the last dollar of our war fund is expended," Flaherty declared, "will the Knights of Columbus cease their ministrations to the disabled men in the hospitals. There are more than thirty thousand of these men now and the end is not yet. We shall remain with them to the finish."

K. of C. and Radicals

The Supreme Knight advocates a strong stand by the Knights against the forces of extreme radicalism. "Where radicalism is healthy, it does constructive work; where it is unhealthy, it will be found to consist mostly of violent talk and violent deeds. The K. of C. stands, every man of us, against intemperance of

of all kinds, political, economic or social."

He condemned strongly the movement against the parochial schools as exemplified in the Oregon anti-parochial school amendment.

"We shall fight for our constitutional rights," he said, "to the highest tribunal in the land, for we are fighting for religious freedom, without which this nation or any other cannot be free."

The Supreme Knight's report was the first business following organization of the convention, at the Mount Royal hotel. The convention is the largest ever held by the Knights. Archbishop Gauthier delivered an address of welcome from the altar of the Cathedral of Notre Dame at the solemn mass opening the convention. A mammoth parade, in which more than twenty thousand local and visiting Knights marched preceded the mass. The convention will continue through Tuesday night until Thursday afternoon.

RAIN RETARDING ROAD WORK

On account of the bad weather conditions work on the new stretch of highway between Sandy Ridge and Bald Eagle is being retarded. It was the earnest hope of the contractors to have had the road completed not later than August 1st, but on account of rain only 29 feet of concrete has been laid in the past ten days. More than 700 feet of concrete must be laid before the job is completed, and then 21 days must elapse before the road is thrown open. If the weather is favorable, the contractors hope to complete the laying of the 700 feet of concrete by the latter part of this week.

WASHINGTON PAYS LAST TRIBUTE TO DEAD CHIEF

State Funeral At Ten O'clock A Spectical Long To Be Remembered By Thousands Who Line Street

Casket Rested On Jet-Black Gun Caisson Drawn By Jet-Black Team of Horses—8,000 Soldiers March to the Dirge of Five Military Bands

DEEP SOLEMNITY MOVES ALL TO TEARS

Washington, Aug. 8. (United Press)—Warren Gamaliel Harding rests in the White House once more.

The dead body of the President, brought across the continent from San Francisco on the same special train on which he made his last tour of the United States, arrived at the Union Station at 10:22 p. m. yesterday.

The national capital stood with reverently bowed head as the body of the late chief was taken tenderly from the sombre train which brought it from the Pacific coast.

President Coolidge, Chief Justice Taft, and Senator Cummins, president pro tempore of the upper House, led the mourning throng which gathered at the railway station.

The body was borne from the train as thousands of heads were bowed and bowed, and placed on a gun caisson for transfer to the executive mansion.

A military escort of the second squadron of the third cavalry and one battery of the sixth field artillery from Fort Myer, Va., commanded by Major J. M. Wright, was formed in Union station plaza as an escort of honor.

In the background loomed the great dome of the capital beneath which all that is mortal of the departed President will lie in state today. In the foreground the Stars and Stripes drooped at half mast from the same tall pole which displayed the emblem gallantly at its peak on the day less than two months ago when President Harding started on his ill-fated pilgrimage.

Led by a mounted police detail, the solemn procession passed through the capital grounds, winding through the driveway and passed into historic Pennsylvania avenue, the route of many of the republic's most impressive processions.

From the peace monument at the foot of Capitol Hill to the White House, a sorrowing crowd stood on each side of the broad street, heads bared as the black-draped and flag-covered casket rumbled past on the artillery caisson to the slow measured pace of the dead march. It was down this same avenue that Warren G. Harding and Woodrow Wilson rode in the same automobile to the inauguration of the former two years and a half ago. At that time Mr. Harding was hale and hearty and Mr. Wilson could not take a step without assistance. Tomorrow the body of Mr. Harding will be carried on its last journey down the avenue from the White House to the capitol and among the mourners will be Mr. Wilson. Reaching the northwest gate of the White House, the military escorts wheeled and faced about, standing at rigid attention as the caisson trundled slowly into the grounds of the executive mansion.

Taking a shorter route, the courageous widow, who had watched over her beloved dead from the Pacific coast, accompanied by General and Mrs. Sawyer and Secretary George Christian, arrived at the White House shortly before the cortege, in time to receive the body.

Awaiting Mrs. Harding were Mrs. Coolidge and the ladies of the cabinet. They were there merely as women to offer sympathy and comfort to one of their number who had just lost her husband. Following the casket and the military escort from the White House were automobiles carrying the President, Chief Justice Taft, and Senator Cummins, with Speaker Gillett, the occupants of these three cars representing the three branches of the government.

Washington D. C. Aug. 8.—Washington today said farewell to Warren G. Harding.

With due solemnity and with a military and civil display befitting his office the body of the President was carried from the White House to the capitol and placed beneath the dome on the catafalque of Lincoln. Clearfield and McKinley. In the presence of the Nation's great men the rites were observed. Then the bronze doors swung open and an endless column of people began filing past the casket, walking four abreast, paying their last tribute.

To Marion This Evening
At 6:00 p. m. with a final crash of

ket stood beneath the center of three canelabra; the head was facing the south with a soldier at attention. Two soldiers were on either side and a naval officer at the foot.

On the caasket was one wreath of flowers. Banked on the floor about the caasket were others, all of them sent by President Coolidge and high officials of the Nation.

There was not a single piece of furniture in the room. Lights filtered through the drawn shades, paling the glow of four electric candle sticks on the rich golden tapestry.

National Tribute

Millions of American people, standing by day and night beside the railroad tracks over which his funeral train came from San Francisco to the capitol have paid in person their final tribute to the man who was thus returning over the long journey. Today, the Nation as a whole in its majesty as a great Republic, paid him the utmost honor at its command. Today's state funeral was a fitting climax to the three thousand mile funeral service, which Mr. Harding's fellow men and women, whom he loved, accorded him.

Fears For Mrs. Harding.

Treading the way beside him today, as she did every step of his upward climb, was the white, worn figure of his wife, a woman whose matrons will keep her feet from falling under the weight of the sorrow that bowed her shoulders.

There was as much sympathy for her today as there was sorrow over the passing of the Nation's Chief. Never was a President's wife dearer to the people than Mrs. Harding and many of the tears that have fallen since he died have been for her.

Train Arrived 10:22 p. m. The funeral train arrived at 10:22 p. m. of a dark, starless night. Approaching the capitol it moved slowly past thousands of people from the city and those who had journeyed out from nearby towns in Maryland to be the first in Washington to greet their returning Chief.

Body in East Room.

All night the body lay in state in the East Room. Through the windows four sentries could be seen, immobile as graven images at the corners of the bier. Outside the iron pickets stood a fringe of mourners, staring at the dimly illuminated win-

Washington, D. C. Aug. 8.—Woodrow Wilson today again rode down Pennsylvania Avenue "The Street of Ambition." A man, who less than two years ago dropped the mantle of Chief Executive of the land in an almost dying condition today took his place as a sorrower in the funeral of his successor, President Warren G. Harding.

When Woodrow Wilson, with halting steps, athen cheeks and twisted figure left the White House two years ago, he was supported on the strong arm of President elect Harding, who then reined in the least of health. Today Mr. Wilson is better; a well man comparatively. Mr. Harding is dead.

The man about whom more stupendous events have evolved probably than any other in American history was accompanied in his automobile by his faithful wife, Mrs. Wilson, and his personal friend and physician, Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson.

Operators Of Central Field To Close Mines All Day On Friday

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 7, 1923. As an expression of esteem and respect for our late President, Warren Gamaliel Harding, and in accord with the request contained in the proclamation issued by President Coolidge designating Friday, August 10th, as a day of mourning, the officers of the Association respectfully request all mines in the district to remain closed on that day.

Very sincerely yours,
B. M. CLARK, President,
G. WEBB SHILLINGFORD, V.P.
CHARLES O'NEILL, Secretary,
W. A. JONES, Statistician.

dows, the only spot of light in the mansion. At dawn the crowds grew rapidly larger.

People began gathering along the line of the procession along Pennsylvania Avenue early today. A throng assembled at the New Willard Hotel from where President Coolidge and a military guard stared at the White House shortly before ten o'clock.

Drums Roll, Guns Boom.

Washington, Aug. 8.—The procession started for the capitol at 10:19 a. m. The casket was carried from the White House, placed on the caisson and as troops came sharply to attention the solemn pageant moved slowly on its way. Minute guns began booming. Then the distant thrumming of the drums, beating the slow cadence of the dirge was faintly heard. Next the awakening notes of the dead march.

The leaders of the procession wheeled around the corner at the Treasury Building. First came General Pershing as commander in chief, followed by an army attendant and military guard of 8,000 troops. They marched with slow measured tread. Afterward came the civic procession, and in the midst of it the object upon which all eyes centered, the thing to which the heart of the nation went out, the flag-shrouded caisson upon a jet black gun caisson, drawn by jet black horses, with generals, admirals, cabinet members, senators and representatives passed slowly by, their heads bowed.

Over this same route President Harding walked behind the body of the unknown soldier drawn on the caisson nearly two years ago at the start of what many regarded as the supreme event of his administration—the World Arm Conference.

Spectators Weep.

Rank after rank of soldiers, sailors and marines swept past; five bands kept up a steady rhythm of the lament and in the occasional pause there was the music of the rumbling wheels, the tread of thousands of feet, the rattle of sabres, the clatter of hoofs and the sudden boom of the minute guns.

It was a mighty and awe-inspiring spectacle as the military might and statesmanship of America passed in review, filling the avenue from end to end with a river of humanity, the center of which was the rumbling caisson and its honored burden. The emotional strain was so great that many wept.

All officials wore black arm bands and crepe on their sabres.

Washington, Aug. 8.—Ambassadors and military leaders were massed on every hand as the remains of President Harding were carried to the rotunda at the capitol and placed on the catafalque at 11:21.

The invocation with which the funeral services opened was delivered by Dr. A. Freeman Anderson, assistant pastor of the Calvary Baptist church.

"Lead Kindly Light."

"Lead indly Light," the hymn that Mr. Harding loved in life, was sung by the same church male quartet. Scripture selections were read in the following order:

The Twenty-third Psalm.

The Book of Micah, Chapter 6, 8th verse:

"He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God." (This is the late Presi-

Friday, America's day of mourning for Warren G. Harding, bids fair to be marked by a complete cessation of activities the country over, as the United States comes to a halt to honor the dead President.

Commerce and recreation both will pause, at least momentarily, some time during the day. In several states—New York, Illinois, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Nebraska and New Jersey—a legal holiday has been declared, thus enabling banks to close their doors. Government offices, federal, state and municipal, will probably all be closed.

Many stores and factories have announced that they will not open their doors or that they will pause for a few minutes as the President's body is lowered into the grave.

In Clearfield the usual Thursday afternoon holiday will be observed and, in addition, practically every store, office and manufacturing plant will be closed during the entire afternoon on Friday. While nobody seems to be in a position to speak authoritatively on the hours of closing on Friday, the general swing is toward the noon closing. The banks will close at noon Friday. Many of the manufacturing plants will close all day.

Revelations, Chapter 22: 1-5 verses: "And he showed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God and of the Lamb.

"In the midst of the street of it, and on either side of the river was there the tree of life, which bare twelve manner of fruits, and yielded her fruit every month: and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations.

"And there shall be no more curse; but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve him;

"And they shall see his face; and his name shall be in their foreheads. "And there shall be no light there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light; and they shall reign forever and ever."

Quotations from the scriptures selected by Mrs. Harding; Dr. Montgomery prayed and "Nearer My God To Thee" was sung by the male quartet. The services closed with a benediction by Dr. Anderson. The quotation was from the Book of Numbers, chapter 6: 24-26 verses.

"The Lord bless thee and keep thee: "The Lord make his face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee:

"The Lord lift up his countenance upon thee and give thee peace."

Shortly afterward the people began trooping past to view the caasket, guarded by four sentries motionless as graven images. At 6:00 p. m. while a salute of twenty-one guns is fired, the body will be taken from the rotunda and borne to the funeral train for the last journey home.

Many Heat Prostrations.

Washington, Aug. 8.—More than 250 persons suffered heat prostration during President Harding's funeral procession today. An unrelenting sun beat down on the bare heads of the crowd and many collapsed. Among those who suffered were 75 marines, who fell out of rank after standing for a long time in their heavy uniforms before the White House.

PLAYGROUND HORSESHOES

Yesterday's games leave Witmer still in the lead and bring up Reedsville one peg, the standing being Witmer, are the only team that have pitched together steadily the entire season and their place in the list proves something for the scheme. They beat Undercoffer and Delaney of East End three games running with 21 points each to the latter's 13 and 8, ringers being equal. Williams and Goss of West Side lost to Reedsville, Hess and Bloom, 3-0, the latter's scores being 17, 15 and 11. There are twelve games on the schedule before the finals on the 30th, so there is time for a big change in the ratings if all teams keep at work.

East End Playground Picnic

This week's part at the East End play ground will begin at 5:30 with the first tournament game of the girls volley ball league. West Side playing the home team. MILK IDEAL DIET FOR HOT WEATHER

Nothing takes the place of milk for a hot weather diet. In the first place, served cold, it makes an ideal cooling drink for any hour of the day. Next, it has so much nutriment in it that it takes the place of heavier foods that would heat the blood and bring up the body temperature to a point where the heat is felt more.

Then, it is easily digested, which is the right thing for your stomach.

Drink our pasteurized milk during hot weather and lots of it.

There ain't no such anamie, as a substitute for Ward's original "Crushes," as Ura Thistle knows. Your eyes may deceive you, but your taste will tell.

If necessary INSIST

Why play tricks on your taste? Accepting a substitute for a genuine Ward's "Crush" is like taking a grind organ to grand opera. Why do it? Just insist on the genuine. Ward's Crushes owe their distinctive and delightful flavors to the natural fruit oils of oranges, lemons and limes. To these have been added pure cane sugar, citrus fruit juices, U. S. certified food color, fruit acid and carbonated water. Everybody likes them.

AND THINGS

Wages and salaries in manufacturing industries doubled, almost exactly, between 1914 and 1921. This is shown by the last census.

Total wages and salaries paid by all American manufacturing establishments compared as follows:

1914	$ 4,342,167,000
1921	10,763,442,000
1919	13,342,635,000

These figures show that the average person employed in manufacturing was paid about $106 in 1921 and $113 in 1919 for each $55 he received in 1914.

The average age of our presidents at the time they assumed office is 49 years and 10 months. President Coolidge's age when he took the oath of office was 51 years and 20 days. The following list shows the age of each president at the time he became the nation's chief:

President	Age
Washington	57
John Adams	51
Jefferson	57
Monroe	57
Madison	57
James	58
Van Buren	54
W. H. Harrison	68
Tyler	51
Folk	49
Taylor	63
Pierce	48
Buchanan	65
Lincoln	52
Johnson	56
Grant	46
Hayes	54
Arthur	56
Cleveland	47
Benjamin Harrison	55
Cleveland (second term)	55
McKinley	54
Roosevelt	42
Taft	51
Wilson	56
Harding	58
Coolidge	51

There are now only two ex-presidents living, Taft and Wilson.

In the purchase of necessities, the dollar now has a buying power equal to 89 per cent of its pre-war value according to a nation-wide survey of retail prices just completed by the Department of Labor.

The department's investigation covered all principal cities of the United States. It dealt with expenditures of the average family for food, rent, clothing, fuel and furniture.

The average family now is forced to spend approximately 70 per cent more for these necessities than in 1913.

Food, which represents the largest expense of the family, is close to the pre-war level, being 44 per cent above the 1913 level in average price.

The nation's rent level stands at a point 68 per cent above 1913. Clothing has gone up 75 per cent, fuel 81 per cent and furniture 122 per cent.

Living costs are above the average of the United States as a whole in most cities east of the Alleghenies, the official investigation shows, while westward from the Mississippi the cost of living tends to fall below the average for the country. This is especially true of cities on the Pacific Coast. In the middle western cities food prices tend to fall below the average of national price while other necessities are higher.

Rents reflect an upward movement in the last twelve months despite the nationwide activity in the building of homes and apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Phillips spent the weekend with friends in Indiana. Miss Ruth Evans has returned home after spending some time with friends in Harrisburg, Pa.

ROBBED AND KILLED
Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 8.—Stripped of money and jewelry and with three bullet wounds in the head, the body of Charles P. Laird, a mill superintendent of the Homestead Works of the Carnegie Steel Company was found early today on a lonely road near Girard by farmers on their way to the harvest fields.

The motor of his large machine was still running and this leads Girard and Homestead police to believe the man was held up by highwaymen.

There is a story told of a man who once said that when he died he would prefer to have a children's playground above his grave rather than have the space occupied by a monument. He liked to think of the children playing there happily. Impracticable as this proposal would be, generally applied, it was yet a vivid way of indicating how devotedly he believed in the right of children to play.

SPIRIT OF AMERICA

Were there any reason to doubt that this is a democratic country, the scene in that Vermont farmhouse in the early hours of Friday morning would be sufficient to dispel the erroneous idea. By the light of an oil lamp a country notary read the will of a deceased man, the son of the administering officer President of the United States. Thus a former Vermont farm boy is elected to the highest office within the gift of more than 100,000,000 people. The homely, the American setting of the scene, the tribute to impressiveness. The environment is one that might be repeated a million times in this land. Because it is so much like a president, or those who may reach the topmost places in all avenues of endeavor, may come, makes our country a democracy. It is not the form but the practice that makes the nation democratic. The simplicity of the scene was not more impressive than its portent. When the authority dropped from the limp hand of the dead chief, another as a member of duty stepped into his place without undue ceremony and the government lives. The transition was in pursuance of order and peace.

So many who have attained the presidency and the highest honors of success outside political honors have come from the back of the line in the shadow of the Green Mountains because sturdy folk are found to dwell amid such surroundings. Such may be proudly but their minds and ambitions may not be so much inspired by their environment. Because place and opportunity have been open to the offspring of such homes the nation has become great. In unpretentiousness, in simplicity, in the family, in strength. Pageantry and glitter and ceremony may be needed to impress the populace in a land where one is elected by birth and not by popular selection or personal force, and the simple manner of inducting President Coolidge into the office is more impressive than any gorgeous spectacle of the old world could be, since it is so homely, and therefore, we like to think emblematic of the spirit of America.

Drivers who have already hung their names with the speedway officials are Eddie Hearne, Cliff Durant, Earl Cooper, Harlan Fongler, Frank Elliott, Bennett Hill, Jerry Wondoluk, W. F. Progress Editorial For Women

KEEP YOUR BACKBONE
By FLORINCE DAVIES

A doctor in New York City handed the county a little laugh the other day by accusing some one of having stolen his backbone. At least, if it wasn't his very own backbone, it was owned by him, if you get the difference, and it was lost. As the doctor made a business of teaching anatomy in a medical school, losing that backbone was quite a nuisance.

The sorry plight of the doctor in search of a backbone should be a lesson to us. If you must lose something, one feels like trying you to lose your purely unnecessary appendix or your troublesome adenoids or in fact making tonsils, even lose a wisdom tooth or two, but don't lose your backbone.

Spineless people are forever getting the worst of things and don't deserve so very much sympathy for their down trodden state.

The human spine was evidently evolved for the purpose of allowing human beings to stand up straight. But there are some people who are forever lying down and letting others walk all over them and then crying at their miserable luck. They are worse off than the New York doctor who says that his backbone was stolen. That, at least, wasn't his own doing, while these folks just seem to have mislaid their backbone or forgotten to make use of them.

I'd be willing to wager that there's a woman in your family or at least in your neighborhood who has always had the worst of things. If she was married, her husband probably spent all kinds of money on high living while she ripped and washed and turned her last year's suit, did her own work had to take care of his mother, never had a vacation and then died of some organic disease brought on by overwork and worry. If she wasn't married, perhaps it was her selfish brothers who never lifted a finger to support her parents in their old age, or her married sisters who put

Matter of Mathematics. A woman whose hobby was the psychology and the esoteric influence of colors, was deeply gratified one morning when her husband admitted that there might be something in her theory after all. "Dawson told me something today, which seemed to go to prove it," he said. "Dawson?" questioned Mrs. Madison, amazed, for Dawson was the manager of her husband's stable. "Yes," he says the boys eat more than the grays. "Really! How does he account for it?" "Why, there are ten more boys than grays."

Tom Sims SAYS---

German marks and our wheat are less than a dollar a bushel. Senator Johnson, of California, is getting so mad he even may split with an infinitive soon. What is more fitting than red tape causing trouble in Russia? Monster fish about a million years old has been seen in Nebraska. Lie is late this year. London aviator striking for more pay stood his ground and got it. Department store burned in Asheville, N. C. All we hope is it got some folding beds. A million Fords have been made this year. Police tell us nothing can be done to stop it. Laster wants two more Leviathans. Why not six, making one for every day in the week? Paris women are wearing white wigs. They will wear anything over there, anything or nothing. New York is becoming so wicked. Maybe he needs a governess instead of a governor. Washington is alarmed over slack army enlistments. Truth is fewer men are getting mad enough to go and join the army. Strange noises coming from a Florida swamp are thought to be a radio entertainer on vacation.

ALLENGE MADE TO KLUX KLAN BY OF C. CONVENTION

ontreal, Aug. 7. (United Press) relating that the Knights of Columbus would stand in whatever country operated against all societies omies that sought to inject reus and racial bias into govern- and social life, Supreme Knight as A. Flaherty, of Philadelphia, is address to the Forty-first Sum- ne International Convention of Knights of Columbus today, chal- d the Ku Klux Klan or any eponents or critics of the K. C. to produce a single fact on ch to base their opposition or icism.

use, and 50 school children who re massed in front of the District iding to see the cortege pass. Am- lances were busy and additional strations were reported at fre- ent intervals. Many of those who collapsed were uacitated by first aid methods on e spot and were able to go home.

Marion Prep'd
Marion, Ohio, Aug. 8.—Three ousand guardsmen were gathered Marion today, adding a touch of ilitary color to preparations for the st home coming of Warren G. Hard y, but these soldiers did not come march in the procession or to fire ilitary salutes for their dead Com- ander in Chief. Their duties were simply to patrol e streets and direct the movements f hundreds of civilians who are ex- ected to come to Marion to pay heir last respects to the late Pres- ent. Guardsmen today were on duty at very street intersection. The direct- d traffic over those streets over which the procession will pass Thurs ay and Friday and where crews were hing night and day to repair the avement. They acted as orderlies to Colonel Frank P. Lahm, President Harding's representative and two of- cers of the Ohio National Guard. Warren Harding's friends and eighbors today realized that this fneral would be without pomp and the running of artillery and that the plans made to follow closely the desires of Mrs. Harding are for a fun- eal almost severe in its simplicity yet which will give every fellowman ample opportunity to participate. For a period, a total of twelve hours the body of Warren Harding will lie in state at the home of his father, Dr. George T. Harding so every day may file past for a last look at his face.

Boils

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S. S. S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S. S. S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-blood. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaff, 557 15th street, Washington, D. C., writes: "I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S. S. S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S. S. S. that did it."

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

SSS The World's Best Blood Medicine

our integrity. The Knights of Columbus have expended forty million dollars entrusted to them by the American public with the exception of some millions now being devoted to educational and hospitalization work. In Canada the Knights have spent many hundreds of thousands for welfare work. Every dollar has been devoted to its right purpose.

"Every remaining dollar is being devoted to that purpose, as tens of thousands of ex-service men of all denominations receiving education under K. of C. auspices can prove, and as any inquirer may see for himself by visiting any of the 400 hospitals throughout the country where the Knights of Columbus maintain hospitalization service free for war veterans regardless of creed.

"Any man who challenges the record must prove his case or abandon it. We have been over patient with our slanderers. We shall not be so in the future. The laws can be invoked to curb malicious lying."

Three Big Problems

The K. of C. chief declared that the three most important tasks now before the Knights were the satisfactory solution of the Catholic boy problem, connected with which there is a special committee report on the probable formation of a Junior K. of C. movement; next, the extension of the K. of C. national correspondence school into a great mail-system university for the 800,000 members of the order, and then the continuance of the hospital and educational work for disabled men.

"Not until the last dollar of our war fund is expended," Flaherty declared, "will the Knights of Columbus cease their ministrations to the disabled men in the hospitals. There are more than thirty thousand of these men now and the end is not yet. We shall remain with them to the finish."

K. of C. and Radicals

The Supreme Knight advocates a strong stand by the Knights against the forces of extreme radicalism. "Where radicalism is healthy, it does constructive work; where it is unhealthy, it will be found to consist mostly of violent talk and violent deeds. The K. of C. stands, every man of us, against intemperance of

of all kinds, political, economic or social."

He condemned strongly the movement against the parochial schools as exemplified in the Oregon anti-parochial school amendment.

"We shall fight for our constitutional rights," he said, "to the highest tribunal in the land, for we are fighting for religious freedom, without which this nation or any other cannot be free."

The Supreme Knight's report was the first business following organization of the convention, at the Mount Royal hotel. The convention is the largest ever held by the Knights. Archbishop Gauthier delivered an address of welcome from the altar of the Cathedral of Notre Dame at the solemn mass opening the convention. A mammoth parade, in which more than twenty thousand local and visiting Knights marched preceded the mass. The convention will continue through Tuesday night until Thursday afternoon.

SMAY-PASSMORE

Raymond Day Smay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smay, of Pleasant Grove, and Miss Ursula Passmore, daughter of Mrs. Lizzie Passmore, of Lawrence township, were united in marriage at the East End U. B. parsonage this morning by Rev. Albans. The young people have many friends herabouts who wish them every success in life.

TO CELEBRATE SILVER JUBILEE

Rev. Edward J. Fischer pastor of St. Agnes Catholic church at Morrisdale, will celebrate the silver jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood at Morrisdale on Tuesday, August 21st, 1923. The jubilee mass will be celebrated at 9:30 o'clock and a public reception held at 2:30 p. m. with supper at 6 p. m. at Lakeside Park.

RAIN RETARDING ROAD WORK

On account of the bad weather conditions work on the new stretch of highway between Sandy Ridge and Bald Eagle is being retarded. It was the earnest hope of the contractors to have had the road completed not later than August 1st, but on account of rain only 29 feet of concrete has been laid in the past ten days. More than 700 feet of concrete must be laid before the job is completed, and then 21 days must elapse before the road is thrown open. If the weather is favorable, the contractors hope to complete the laying of the 700 feet of concrete by the latter part of this week.

WESTMORELAND COUNTY SWEEP BY STORM

Greensburg, Pa., Aug. 8.—Thousands of dollars of damage was caused by a severe electrical storm which swept Westmoreland county yesterday and a total of seven houses were destroyed.

In Irwin three houses were struck by lightning and set on fire and a company house, owned by the Westmoreland Coal Company, was lifted by the wind and carried a distance of 50 feet while four miners were inside eating their breakfast. The four miners were slightly hurt.

In Hahntown a house owned by W. S. Ringlock was wrecked by the wind.
